

Expanding

Peer Learning

Learners can benefit from working with and learning from each other. Creating time for learners to share their experiences with others could benefit their learning.

- Consider ways in which you could you promote peer learning and support in your area?
- What preparation would learners need before taking on a role in the peer support and learning relationship?
- How would you evaluate this approach?